Learners: lessons from women of striving and grace explores the lives of Leah, Sarah, the Samaritan woman, and nine other women of the Bible. Wherever God led them, they walked through periods of growth and even trials, and they also experienced His faithfulness and love. Gien Karssen's vivid story-telling and deep insights about these biblical women will inspire you with courage to follow God wherever He leads you, knowing you too will experience God's faithfulness and love. These stories will remind you of people you know--and maybe even of yourself. Each book in the Her Name Is Woman series brings to life women who are featured in the pages of the Bible. As you grapple with God's role in each woman's life, you will be motivated to live your own life wholeheartedly for God. Each chapter includes relevant Scripture passages and study questions that have made the Her Name Is Woman series a favor-ite guide for Bible studies and small groups. GIEN KARSSSEN is author of the Her Name Is Woman series. She was married for only six weeks when her husband was interned in a concentration camp during the Nazi Holocaust, where he died. She lived the rest of her days avidly mentoring women as part of The Navigators in Europe. Grace loves stories, whether they're from books, movies, or the kind her grandmother tells. So when she gets a chance to play a part in Peter Pan, she knows exactly who she wants to be. Remarkable watercolor illustrations give full expression to Grace's high-flying imagination. From the interactive clockwork world of geology, tides, Northwest weather, and snow, to the hidden roles of dirt, stream life, and mosses and lichens, Pulitzer Prize winning writer William Dietrich explores the natural splendors of the Pacific Northwest. His topics include alder and cedar; jellyfish, geoducks, crabs, and killer whales; mosquitoes and spiders; gulls, crows, and bald eagles; and sea otters, coyotes, raccoons, possums, deer, and cougars. This informative and engaging selection of natural history essays is adapted from articles published in the Seattle Times magazine, Pacific Northwest. A native Washingtonian, Dietrich has watched the Northwest double in population during his lifetime. Our rapidly changing view of nature is an underlying theme throughout his wide-ranging essays, as is the timely and essential question of how best to share and conserve the natural world that drew us to the region in the first place. Not a field guide nor an environmental policy book, Natural Grace is intended as a primer for people who are curious about the environment they live in and the pressures upon it. "We only care about what we know," says the author. "I've concluded that enthusiasm and commitment begin from learning just how marvelous this region is: Passion has to precede purpose." And there is much to marvel over. Dietrich has unearthed fascinating and unexpected facts about his subjects, and he has a gift for expressing complex information in clear and vivid language. He asks intriguing questions and makes good use of interviews with Northwest scientists and experts to convey current and historic attitudes and economic realities, and to consider where we go from here. It's all about grace-filled, gospel-driven parenting, says the mother/daughter team of Elyse Fitzpatrick and Jessica Thompson. Christian parents, in their desire to raise godly children, can drift toward rule-centered discipline. There is, however, a far more effective method—a grace-motivated approach that begins with the glorious truth of God's love for sinners. In Give Them Grace, parents will learn how to connect the benefits of the cross—especially regeneration, adoption, and justification—to their children's daily lives. Chapters address topics such as our inability to follow the law perfectly, God's forgiveness and love displayed at the cross, and what true heart obedience looks like. Fitzpatrick and Thompson also discuss discipline, dealing with popular culture, and evangelism as a way of life. Parents will find this book a great resource for raising grace-filled, Jesus-loving kids. 1910. Pownal, Vermont. At 12, Grace and her best friend Arthur must leave school and go to work as a "doffers" on their mothers' looms in the mill. Grace's mother is the best worker, fast and powerful, and Grace desperately wants to help her. But she's left handed and doffing is a right-handed job. Grace's every mistake costs her mother, and the family. She only feels capable on Sundays, when she and Arthur receive special lessons from their teacher. Together they write a secret letter to the Child Labor Board about underage children working in Pownal. A few weeks later a man with a camera shows up. It is the famous reformer Lewis Hine, undercover, collecting evidence for the Child Labor Board. Grace's brief acquaintance with Hine and the photos he takes of her are a gift that changes her sense of herself, her future, and her family's future. The Sermon on the Mount is one of the best-known portions of Scripture, but for many people it is more often a source of guilt than of grace and encouragement. Drawing on a deep understanding of the working of the grace of God in the lives of ordinary people, Crimson Grace will transform your understanding of the teachings of Jesus. If you have ever felt that God is displeased with you, that He wants to punish you for your failures, Crimson Grace will show you a new point of view and invites you to embark on a journey with Him: "a lifelong journey ... that has a beginning, but not an ending. A continual process of trying, failing, and learning. Of seeking wisdom and understanding, always ready to re-examine what we thought we knew, and replace it with something better. A journey where we may fail every day, but still move ever closer to the universal, eternal, non-optional Truth that defines God and his world." What can we learn from the saints about adversity? How did they use their adversity as a means of growth rather than just as something to be endured? In this book, popular Catholic author Woodeene Koenig-Bricker offers an in-depth look at a host of saints and how they dealt with a particular type of suffering in their lives. From each saint we learn valuable lessons about the common trials that come with being human—for example, suffering from physical problems (St. Padre Pio), mental suffering (Blessed Mother Teresa), addictions (Venerable Matthew Talbot), physical disability (St. Alphonsus Liguori), marital discord (St. Rita of Cascia), divorce (St. Helena), prejudice (St. Joseph Bakhita), financial stress (St. Elizabeth Ann Seton), and old age (Blessed John Paul II). We expect to hear from God when we are reading the Bible, when we are worshipping at church, and when we are in prayer. But what about the rest of the time? Does God stop teaching us just because we have closed our Bible, walked out the church door, or said "amen?" Does Jesus only speak, teach, and encourage us when we are doing "religious" things? If we look at how Jesus taught His disciples, we find that Scripture's answer to that question is a resounding "No!" Life was Jesus' classroom, and He took full advantage of "everyday" things to bring the truths of Scripture to life. Through sharing personal stories, lessons, and confessions, Dan powerfully illustrates that Jesus is teaching us in the same way; and if we pay attention, we will discover special graces in common places—lessons that His Spirit is teaching us throughout our day so that we can effectively work out the grace that He is constantly working into us. The question is, are we listening? Jake Lucas lives with severe physical and mental challenges. This unforgettable story of Jake's first 17 years, written by his father, is full of wonder at the grace and goodness of God, who brings hope and promise through Jesus into the darkest of circumstances. Poised, cultured, and unforgettable, Grace Kelly had the aura of a princess, even before she was crowned. She exuded grace, polish, flair, and serenity as a fashion icon, actor, and humanitarian. Living with Grace is a captivating look at this elegant woman who has been an inspiration for many and whose legacy enlightens a new generation of fans. Seldom seen photos and outtakes are complemented by inspiring quotes from and about Grace and the famous roles she played. These words and images highlight what made her so iconic on film and in life. A fresh, fun, and "thought-provoking" New York Times bestseller about the American electoral college and why every vote counts from bestselling and award-winning duo Kelly DiPucchio and LeUyen Pham. "Where are the girls?" When Grace's teacher reveals that the United States has never had a female president, Grace decides she wants to be the nation's first and immediately jumpstarts her political career by running in her school's mock election! The race is tougher than she expected: her popular opponent declares that he's the "best man for the job" and seems to have captured the votes of all of the class's boys. But Grace is more determined than ever. Even if she can't be the best man for the job, she can certainly try to be the best person! This timely story not only gives readers a fun introduction to the American electoral system but also teaches the value of hard work, courage, independent thought -- and offers an inspiring example of how to choose our leaders. Whether you are teaching a Sunday school class, leading a small group, discipling an individual, or studying on your own, this study guide is designed for you! Can the advice of an eleven-year-old girl help get Abraham Lincoln elected president? As the election of 1860 nears, eleven-year-old Grace and her family are working hard to help Abraham Lincoln win. After seeing his image on a poster, Grace decides to write to him and suggest that growing a beard might win him more votes. Much to her surprise, Lincoln answers her letter, and she becomes a neighborhood celebrity. When the president-elect's victory train passes through on its way to Washington, DC, Mr. Lincoln singles Grace out as the girl who gave him good advice. Based on true events, this story will charm young readers of historical fiction. Grace learns that you can't judge people by their appearance. She learns that our differences are what make us wonderful and we should embrace and celebrate all of our unique qualities. Merri Dee, a TV and radio icon in Chicago, offers some of her hard-won lessons on how to be victorious in the face of pain and sorrow. For courses in English and Writing. However, according to David Mathis, such "habits of grace" are the God-designed channels through which his glorious grace flows—making them life-giving practices for all Christians. Whether it's hearing God's voice (the Word), having his ear (prayer), or participating in his body (fellowship), such spiritual rhythms of the Christian life have the power to awaken our souls to God's glory and stir our hearts for lifelong service in his name. What's more, these seemingly simple practices grant us access to a host of spiritual blessings that we can only begin to imagine this side of eternity—and the incredible joy that such blessings bring to God's children today. "On Sunday mornings at Grace Community Church, small groups of people gather together in 'Fundamentals of the Faith' classes that blend basic biblical truths with personal obedience and service...Many young believers take these classes to grow in their understanding of biblical truths." This study is ideal to disciple new believers or to realize afresh what it means to believe in Jesus. There she was in the public square being mocked and disgraced. You talk about your bad defining moments in life-this one tops them all! These 5 lessons look at the life of the woman caught in adultery. She was about to receive His hand of grace, but at this moment in time, she doesn't know what her future holds. The grace of God is powerfully revealed and described in the story of Jesus' death, burial and resurrection, and nowhere is the grace of God more eloquently explained than in the book of Romans. Engaging and direct, Style: Lessons in Clarity and Grace is the guidebook for anyone who wants to write well. It's time to leave Pennsylvania and Grace says goodbye to her special friend, Nathan. Grace shares the next part of her road trip adventure to Washington, DC and Virginia. She also visits where her mommy used to work in Virginia. ..".Not knowing what I was once again called to the school to discuss, I opened the door to the greatest challenge yet. There stood a little girl holding two long braids in her hand, sobbing. The look on the faces of the teacher, principal, mother of the little girl, and my son said it all. This was not exactly to be a moment of joy..."Petra has written to share the story of raising and loving her adopted drug baby. In her words, it is "about tough experiences, great joys, humor (after the fact), and God's immeasurable grace." She says, "Grace is a word best explained by experience." It is a word she understands and lives more clearly because of the road she has traveled. Her goal is to share these experiences with the hope that it may help someone else along the way."When the cutest little, curly-headed boy with big, bright eyes and eyelashes to match, loaded with a sailor's vocabulary, marched onto my sister's lawn all of our lives changed. Shawn Schwaner was born on January 21, 1966 to a single mother, Susan Schwaner, in Toledo, Ohio. Alone and poor, Shawn's mother was facing a crossroads when the incredible Bertha Lee Green (Mama) stepped into Susan's life and offered to raise her unborn child. Through numerous trials, tribulations, and personal challenges, Shawn earned a high school degree from the prestigious Maumee Valley Country Day School which would change his life trajectory and allow him to climb to the highest of academic heights. After graduating from Denison University with a Bachelor's Degree in Sociology/Anthropology and then a Master's and Doctorate from The Ohio State University, he went on to earn numerous teaching and civil service awards as a college professor at the University of Louisville, Sullivan University, and Miami Dade College (among many). He has shaped and molded the lives of nearly 10,000 students in his career with his unorthodox and creative writing intensive teaching style and continues to leave an impact that reflects the lessons on race, grace, and the wisdom to overcome as learned from his life with Mama. I wrote Growing Up In Grace to encourage you through some of life's highs and lows, help you keep your eyes on God, and live out the plans He has for you. In Growing Up In Grace, my friends and I share our experiences through the lenses of faith, revealing how there is more to life than simply getting by. We have a God who knows us, loves us, and cares for us. He sent His son to die for us. That means He can cleanse us from our sin so we can live an abundantly blessed life—even through the challenges we face as teenagers. Growing up is a challenge, but when we live in the grace God calls us into, we can live differently. His grace gives us peace in hard times, joy every day, and the ability to spark change all around us. I have walked through family troubles, a season of recklessness, body shame, and more. Chelsea and Reagan walk us through some of their own struggles like jealousy and learning how to trust God's timing. Running to the Lord with these things is so freeing, even if we're still battling them. God gives us strength to continue fighting. He has many promises for you that you can start believing right now. Let's grow in His grace, together. 2005 Gold Medallion Award finalist! The School of Dying Graces is the deeply honest and beautifully written account of two very different spiritual journeys—the journey of Dr. Richard Felix, then president of Azusa Pacific University, and that of his beloved wife, Vivian, a terminal cancer patient. From observing his wife prepare herself spiritually for dying, Dr. Felix discovers that special gifts—living graces—come to those who persevere through suffering. In this thought-provoking and inspiring story forged through his wife's victorious dying, Dr. Felix offers profound truths for those who want to live victoriously.
